As it is, Captain Jennings is to Sir Peter Lumsden for information as rence suggests the thought that all such contests with dangerous weapons should be prohibited. There certainly was no neceshad he not checked the force of the blow, Captain Jennings' head "must have rolled to the ground." Nor can there be given any reason why Jennings should have carried a lance so pointed as to penetrate a cuirass any less stout than steel-plated and cork-lined. If it is desirable or profitable to exhibit skill in cavalry lance and sword practice, why will not a dulled saber, or even one of stout wood, answer every purpose; and why will not a lance blunted or with a muffled head do as well as one steeltipped? Such contests at best, and under even these suggested precautions, must be langerous. It is the element of danger in them that attracts the morbid crowd, and they are therefore of bad influence upon the public mind. San Francisco and all other cities should by ordinance prohibit these dangerous and profitless sports, class ing saber-cutting lance practice, rope walking at great hights and all similar exhibitions together.

WHETHER El Makki has a left arm onger by some parts of an inch than his right, and if so, whether it is longer than the left arm of El Mahdi, the news does not inform us. But we do know that El Makki is the new false prophet, who has arisen and denounces El Mahdi as an impostor. Makki has already a very considerable following. A religious fanatic-fraud never yet lacked for some followers. The chief significance of the rise of El Makki against the long-armed boat-builder of Dongola, is the division that he may effect that, as a consequence, must be felt by El Mahdi. There are many reasons to believe that the latter doughty warrior is by no means as influential to-day in the Sou dan as he was a year ago. Many of his prophecies have proven deceitful, and this has shaken faith in his claim that he bears livine credentials. He has not achieved the great victories he promised his followers; and his armies have suffered vastly more than he calculated. He has, it is very true, checked the English advance

Royalty in Ireland-Sensation in Dublin DUBLIN, April 13th .- A scene of great excitement attended the departure of the Prince and Princess of Wales to-day for south of Ireland. On their way to Kings bridge railway station their Royal Highnesses passed the Dublin City Hall. An immense crowd had assembled about the building to witness the departure the royal visitors. Lord Mayor John O'Connor happened to drive past the City Hall a few minutes before the royal car riage appeared. The crowd recognized him and hissed him savagely. Mr. O'Conor at this flew into a violent passion His display of ire only made his enemies nore demonstrative in their derisive greetng. The Lord Mayor, unable to withtand the storm any longer, stopped his carriage, and, mounting the City Hal teps, called for cheers for Parnell. cate that O'Connor had any great number sympathizers in the assemblage. He en addressed the gathering, and told hem they would be sorry for having hissed im. He said he would telegraph to Parcurred in Dublin, and they would see what the result would be. Soon after this the Prince and Princess of Wales were driven past the City Hall on their way to the railway station. They were greeted with tuultous and prolonged cheering.

RIOT AT MALLOW. LONDON, April 13th .- News of the Mallow ot has caused a sensation in London thi rening. Excited crowds surrounded the 'arliament buildings, breathing threats of ngeance on the Irish. In the House of ommons even the impending war with Russia was forgotten for the moment, and very one is asking for the latest news from Ireland. Parnell and his followers act as f they expected a storm of English wrath burst over their heads.

We are pleased to announce the week just past witnessed one of the largest shipments of STOVES AND RANGES ever received in this city. We make this statement without fear of contradiction, and hundreds who have passed and repassed our stores can testify to the truthfulnes For two whole days the sidewalk, from Fifth street to the middle of the block, was literally packed with "GARLAND" STOVES AND RANGES. No wonder our neighbors in the Stove Business are getting alarmed, and that some of them are using every means to dissuade the public from buying our celebrated "GARLAND' RANGES. The reasons ar these: Our "GARLAND" is copyrighted, and is our eclusive property for the Pacific States, which includes Cal ornia, Oregon, Nevada, Arizona, Utah and Washington Ter ritory. Now, understand, no Stove Dealer in Sacramento can get any of our "GARLAND" RANGES; and if they do, it is by getting them second-hand, or some other indirect way. This, then, is why Stove Dealers in Sacramento run down our celebrated "GARLAND" RANGES to would-be purchasers. A word to th ise is enough. Call at Headquarters when you want "GARLAND," and we warrant them to give satisfaction. Mark you, the "GARLAND" is not our only Range. We keep over 100 other different styles in stock, including "Richmond." "Hub," "Medallion," "Albion," "Charter Oak," "Vista," "Eureka," "Rathbone" and "Westwood;" in fact, any other RANGE known in market. But why war any of these RANGES when you can get something better? The world is progressing. New inventions are springing up daily, and why not get the benefit of all this. If you want coat, you want the very latest and best in market; then why don't this apply equally as well to a STOVE OR RANGE And now to the point: If you want the latest and very best lete with furniture as above, free of freigh ourn, Rocklin, Roseville, Shingle Springs, Ione, Newcastle

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A CITRUS FAIR .- Dr. H. Latham, Secretary of the Northern California Immigration Association, has received a letter from I. N. Hoag, who is representing California's immigration interests at Chicago, in which the latter acknowledges the receipt of a number of the descriptive pamphlets re-cently issued by the Association, and expresses the belief that he will be able to do much good with them. In closing his let-ter he suggests that it would be a good idea to hold a citrus fair at Sacramento next December, and says: "Such a fair will bring out boldly to the world the semicharacter of that end of the State, and, at the same time, emphasize the earlier ripening of such fruits and the greater profit to be derived from their culture in the northern than in the southern countie The oranges of Central and Northern Cali fornia, with care and culture, may be pu on the Eastern markets as early if not earlier than the Florida oranges—can be here for the holidays—while the oranges from the southern counties are not ripe till the Florida oranges are mostly out of the market. DEATH OF P. K. STOCKTON.-Friends of P. K. Stockton, a well-known phonographic reporter, for many years a resident of Sactaking place yesterday. At one time Mr Stockton, together with Win. J. Davis, published the Sacramento Valley Agricultu this city, and on several occasions he re ported the sessions of the Legislature and other bodies for the RECORD-UNION. He and E. B. Willis were the official reporter of the Constitutional Convention, and wrote up the proceedings as they appear in the volumes of "Debates" of that Convention subsequently published. Of late years he has resided mainly upon his ranch near St. Helena. He came to Sacramento last winter to report legislative proceedings, but his health was so poor that he was comman of kindly disposition, intelligent, en-terprising and industrious, and in all respects a good citizen. SUING THE STATE. -The last Legislature having passed an Act authorizing J. M Hoagland and others to bring suit against the State to recover damages sustained in consequence of the destruction of their property in Yolo county by the action of the sioners of this city in 1862, under authority given by the State, cutting a canal which changed the outlet of the American river int the Sacramento from its natural mouth to a point half a mile further up the Sacramento, the various parties interested yesterday commenced action in the Superior Court of Sacramento county. His pulse and temperature are unchanged. Astrology and the Case of General Grant.

NEW YORK, April 13th.-The allusions in these reports about the predictions of astrologers in General Grant's case will be made comewhat intelligible to readers at a distance when they are told that astrology. or what pretends to be a revival of that science, is just now one of the popular delusions of New York, and probably never before was there ever so much searching out of these obscure haunts which have been quietly but persistently advertised in our papers for many years as sybils' caves, where the past is explained and the future predicted, as at the present time. The office of one "Professor" in Fourth street, who advertises to be a medius as well as astrologer, is crowded all the time, not alone with the ignorant and superstitious out intelligent business men and ladies. Wonderful stories are told of his skill in palmistry and divination. Dr. Newman is reported as saying that predictions of vari ous kinds have reached Grant's family regarding the General's life. They could not well fail to inspire a sort of hope, and with the hope have come suggestions of plans for warm weather, should the eral be alive a month or so longer Among other suggestions, Senator Stanford and Mrs. Stanford have spoken of the benefit the General could derive from the climate of California. I believe Stanford has offered to bring a car here, fitted up with sick-room comforts, and in a way to relieve the common annoyances of travel to take the General any distance he may want to go, should he get strong enough to

Their visit was very short, and this fact is taken by those Californians who do not train with the Buckev crowd to indicate that the call was nerely social, and that the question of atronage was not broached. Buckley has een invisible since his return from the White House, but those who pretend to now say the President received him cordially, and that the interview was satisfac-tory. Collapse of Eight Five-story Tenements-Total Wreck of the Buildings. NEW YORK, April 13th .- Eight five-story buried in the ruins, but up to a late hour nobody had been found. The most superficial examination of the debris showed the cause of the disaster to be the wretched workmanship and poor material. The morter contained little or no sand, but loan or mud instead, and was wholly unfit for use. This and the fact that the building had been erected during the cold weather of wet and frozen bricks, were directly the cause of the collapse. The builder, Charles A. Buddensick, who was responsible, left the neighborhood in a carriage immediatety after the disaster, and drove to his residence. Where he went from there nobody could learn. The police, who arrested the master bricklayer, Charles Frank, could not find the builder. Buddensick has been for years in trouble with the authorities, on account of the "skin" buildings he has put The evidence given by Frank and Charles Sawyer, another bricklayer, is very damaging to Buddensick. The erection of the building had been going on since last November, during all the cold weather. The fourth-story walls showed weakness in he sudden thaw before the fifth story was reached, and had to be taken down. Workmen were forbidden to carry home scraps of timber left by carpenters, by the builder's orders, as they were to be used in filling in the walls save bricks, which were sometimes put in by armfuls. When a good thaw set in the walls began to weaken, and steps were taken to brace them up from both ends, so they would stick together until the roof ould be put on and the end walls relieved. The walls stood thus for a week or two, without, so far as could be learned, exciting the curiosity of the Building Depart-The heavy rain of yesterday morning completed the work begun by the thaw. This morning it was seen that the three houses at the west end were in imminent danger of falling. The foundation had bulged oticeably and the walls were shaky Builder Buddensick's attention was called to the matter, and he set men to work to fix up the walls and foundation. Four tone-masons and eighteen carpenters were at work on this when the crash came. There were roofers, painters, lathers and dumbers, numbering perhaps thirty, at work about the premises at the time. Fifty men had been laid off, as some material had not arrived. About 3.15 P. M. a shout of warning went up that brought pale faces to many windows. The end building toward Eleventh avenue was seen to totter, nd then fall with a thunderous noise. Both oundation walls had fallen out, and the body of the house, deprived of its support, fell to the cellar. The building adjoining t, having nothing to lean upon, fell lext. Then the whole row followed ike a line of card houses. A continuous oar followed that seemed to last many inutes, as one after another of the tall uildings went down. Workmen in buildngs for blocks around, and people living on the street for half a mile about, were tartled by the shock, and in a short time e locality of the wreck was packed by an excited people, whose threats of vengeance on the reckless builder filled the air. When the heavy clouds of dust had cleared broken bricks and timbers, piled only a few feet above the level of the street. Men with broken limbs and bruised faces were struggling out from under the wreck and dragging themselves painheard from one or two places, and to these spots the people rushed. The firemen and all available ambulances were summoned, and people from all parts of the city flocked The Rossevelt Hospital ambulances were the first on hand, and carried away nine of the wounded. Commissioner Brennen, of the Charities Department, unertook to direct the work of rescue, and Commissioners did work in the same direc-tion. THE GOVERNOR HAS NO POWER TO THWART THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE. Amendments to the Constitution must be submitted by the Legislature to the people, and the Governor has no power to thwart the will of the people by refusing to call an election, else the power might a well be vested in the Governor and not in the Legislature. Authorities in this respect were referred to by counsel, who said that it would probably be urged by the othe side that the Legislature contemplated the approval of the Governor to the measure But the Legislature has declared that the amendments should be submitted to the people in the performance of its constitutional duty. Had the Constitution intended hat the Governor should have power to decide upon a submission, it would have so expressed its intention. All the formalities equired of the Legislature have been gor hrough with for a submission, and the Governor has not the power to defeat such a submission. The Governor cannot negative a legislative measure for submission else the Constitution would have given him such power in unmistakable terms. This measure was passed by a vote of over two thirds of each Legislative House fixing the time for the voting thereon.

A LEGISLATIVE DUTY. If the Governor has power to negative the action of the Legislature in this respect l virtually has power to decide upon the leasure. Had the Governor vetoed the measure it would have required a two-thirds ote to have passed it, which was less than the vote presenting the measure. The Legislature having passed a measure for adoption by the people, it is the duty of the dovernor to issue his proclamation calling the proposed election. It is a duty enjoined pon the Legislature to do this act by the onstitution. Means have been provided for carrying out the measure, and the Executive has not the power to stand between the people and an amendment to the fundamental law of the State.

The Constitution itself gives power to e Legislature to suggest amendments t that instrument and prescribes how such amendments shall, by the Legislature, be Governor in this respect is a constitutional power under the Act of the Legislature. given the power to issue a proclamation as well as the Governor, and his act would be

The Constitution does not make it his duty, nor does the statute law make it his duty. The Governor has a right to inquire if the law requires him to do an act which it is sought in a Court to compel him to do. The duties of a Govnor cannot be abridged or increased b the Legislature by resolution. Is there an law enjoining upon the Governor to de law? It is not his duty to call an election under the Constitution. Is there any other law to compel him to do so? The Code gives the whole scope of the duties of the Governor, and states that he shall perform such duties as are prescribed by the law his State. There is a general law which requires the Governor to issue a proclama tion for submission of the proposed amend ments at the next general election. Section 16, Article IV., of the Constitution was read, defining the duties of the Gov-

The measure, said counsel, is not a bill under the Constitution. The question is, can the Legislature impose any duty upon the Governor except by law? I deny that he Governor except by law? I deny that the Legislature of the State can impose any the question arises: Can the Legislature compel the Governor to do an act which is not prescribed as his duty by law? There is no law requiring the Executive to per form the act the mandamus sought for contemplates. I have for two years past been Lane's Liver Pills. I have for two years past been affilieted with a severe pain over the eyes, accompanied with a nervousness and a sense of dizziness; a malady beyond the power and skill of our physicians to relieve and cure, caused, as far as I myself could judge, by a diseased state of the liver and stomach. Some of the doctors tried bleeding, and various other remedies were tried, but all in vain, for the deep-rooted disease still stuck fast. At last I procured a box of your Liver Pills from a druggist here, and found, after taking a portion of them, that the disease and painful sensation over the eyes have almost entirely left me.
